1	Showing a documentary from the web series 'Man Enough' Episode 2 – "Let's get vulnerable" followed by the general discussion on men responsibility and the problem faced by men in the society and feedbacks	2 nd February, 2019	23 rd February, 2019	-	-

According to the suggestion from previous event to highlight the problems faced by men. A documentary is shown to address the above problem. All the students presented for the documentary film participated in the discussion irrespective of the gender. In the discussion men discussed about their hardship "being a Man" in the society and women explained their view towards the degree of freedom of men. Women were also aware of the problems faced by men in the society. There is little freedom which men do not have similar to women in our society; to name a few Men cannot express their feelings or emotions irrespective of place and time. Most of them feel shy to cry in public, to share their problems with their relatives, friends and other known people they preferred to share with unknown people. They are scared of being judged and getting mocked because of the stereotype 'Men should not cry and cannot show weakness'. Many students discussed their personal experiences where men have become vulnerable.

To conclude the discussion men and women have equal rights and freedom to express their emotions. Men who participated in this event felt happy and fortunate because unspoken problem of men was addressed in the event. Few women in the discussion expressed, their perception towards men has change after listening to the problems faced by men.

Suggestion given by students: students suggested investigating the role of Media and gender relation. Because media is a very powerful tool which has the capacity to reach millions of people. Media can impact positively or negatively, people's perception on gender.
